

PROGRAM STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES
Computer Information Technology

Program SLO
Students will be able to demonstrate their ability to use computers to process, manage, and communicate information as evaluated by the faculty via a 100 point rubric with a score of at least 70.
Students will demonstrate their knowledge of computer operations and terminology, operating systems, database, networking, security, and technical support as evaluated on various course exams with a score of 70% or higher.
Students will demonstrate understanding for employment entry-level positions with businesses, educational systems, and governmental agencies by completing a capstone project with a proficient score.