

Brunswick Community College to offer voice-acting class

Published: Tuesday, March 10, 2015 at 2:54 p.m.

BRUNSWICK COUNTY | Brunswick Community College will offer “Getting Paid to Talk,” a one-night voice acting class on March 19.

Attendees will learn the basics of voice overs, how to get started, what it’s like in the studio and how to produce an effective demo.

“The class is really designed as an upbeat, realistic introduction to the voiceover field,” said David Bourgeois, president and creative director at Voice Coaches, Creative Voice Development Group, LLC, adding that most voice over actors produce narrative work – audio books, training materials, phone system hold messages, etc.

The class is $35 and is limited to 25 people. To register, contact the college at (910) 755-7378.

– Miranda Roberts

Copyright © 2015 StarNewsOnline.com – All rights reserved. Restricted use only.