

Upon successful completion of Web Development certificate, graduates should be able to:

- Identify inefficiencies in existing website and incorporate enhancements to appearance, coding, and overall functionality into a new website
- Design and develop a website that satisfies specified requirements
- Develop a website with current industry standard software and techniques
- Design and develop a website that meets World Wide Web Consortium (W3C) standards